A 50-year-old male patient was admitted to our hospital with left chest pain. Chest computed tomography and FDG-PET-CT showed an abnormal mass, measuring approximately 30 mm, in the left chest. Partial excision and tumor resection revealed that the mass was an invasive adenocarcinoma. Immunohistochemically, the tumor was strongly positive for TTF-1 and Napsin A, but negative for CK5/6, p40, and p63. On the other hand, the tumor was positive for phosphorylated (p)-EGFR (EGFR clone), p-p38 (p38 clone), and p-Akt (Akt clone), and amplification of EGFR by FISH and image analysis showed that the tumor
