Brought to you by: CNET Reviews - menu Tag Archives: cloth Post navigation As you may know, I just finished sewing up my daughter a new new "Star Trek" themed sleeping bag (not pictured). I knew it was time to run to the fabric store and get my fabric. I chose a brand called "Seamster" that I had not used before and was all happy to try it. My daughter loves the fabric and has used it to make a dress and several pajama sets. She also just loves the fabric and is only interested in wearing the fabric. I have been looking at the fabric that I used on her bed and realized that I could easily duplicate her entire bedding set by simply taking the fabric home and sewing it up myself. Now this isn't the end all be all to sleep bags, but when you're talking about pennies on the dollar it's worth a try, right? I already have the pattern and the instructions. The instructions were pretty straightforward, but I wanted to double check on a couple of things. So after cutting the fabric and cutting the pattern I traced out my daughter's fabric and pinned it to her pattern, the pin didn't go into the right spot so I marked it out. I then trimmed off the extra fabric and pinned that in place. Once that was all done and pinned, I took the fabric to the sewing machine, checked that everything was in place, and then sewed it up. This is the finished product. I wasn't really expecting that. I have a real soft spot for fabric that is hand dyed and hand painted and when I find that type of fabric I tend to pick

Too many bugs. First when I tried to "refresh" the desktop side of things I got a "Your Desktop" prompt to the next screen and on the next screen it told me the app had crashed and I needed to restart my phone. I had to use the "Reboot" function instead of the normal "restart". Then, when I tried to "refresh" the phone side of things I couldn't figure out how to get the backup option to work. It kept defaulting to "select" when I wanted it to default to "select all". However, I got the alert that I had to restart and then I was good. Again, when I tried to "refresh" the phone side of things the backup option defaulted to "select" and so it defaulted to "select all" and I had to restart. It took a few tries and lots of long waits to get it to work the way I wanted it to work. First when I tried to "refresh"
