Bexclock Crack Free Download lets you keep your computer up-to-date at all times. With the Internet coming to power, a large variety of domains of activity created services which can be accessed through a web browser. This also involves time, with servers holding precise time for various regions around the world. In this regard, Bexclock Free Download helps you keep your computer updated according to a time server of choice. Can be used on the go Since the application doesn't require installation in order to function, you can go ahead and take it for a spin as soon as download is done. As such, it can also be carried around on a thumb drive in case you want to use it on multiple computers, without having to worry about the health status of the target PC, because registry entries are not altered during runtime. Needless to say that it's a good idea to keep your Internet connection active while the application is running, otherwise you're not able to synchronize time. Note that the program is set to automatically close after a specific amount of time, with synchronization being automatically performed. Little effort required on your behalf You can prevent the application from automatically closing at the press of a button. You find a drop-down menu fitted with quite the variety of time servers, and you need to select one from the list, with no possibility to add your own, which is pretty disappointing. However, there are high chances to be able to find the servers you need. The window displays the time of the currently selected server. At the press of a button, your computer's time is properly adjusted. Note that there's no option to undo. Additionally, you can make the application run with Windows, and leave the auto close option on to have time synchronized on every boot. A few last words Taking everything into consideration, we can state that Bexclock is a pretty simple, yet efficient application of synchronizing your computer's time according to one of the various, built-in servers. Effort on your behalf is minimum, since the application can start, sync, and close on Windows logon. Bexclock is an internet time server which allows you to synchronize your time or information with the web. You can access it through any browser, or by using a Palm or PocketPC as a computer. Bexclock is a FREE application of time synchronization for Windows. It allows you to synchronize the computer's clock to a reliable time server, such as time.gov or time.nist.gov, or even a location time server, with the time of choice or the server's time zone, at the press of a button. Bexclock is a graphical tool and does not require root or administrator privileges. It offers a wide range of options, including the capability to manually sync time or set the time automatically at every boot. Bexclock can help you keep your computer time up to date with a reliable time server or a location server, including one of the most trusted time servers located in Washington D.C., such as ntp.org or pool.ntp.org. With Bexclock, you can synchronize the time with any public server, such as time.nist.gov or time.gov. It allows you to synchronize to a server in your region or in a specific time zone. If you use the time zone features, Bexclock allows you to choose the time zone and time zone's offset, or the difference between the real time and the time zone. Bexclock is a graphical tool for time synchronization of Windows. It allows you to synchronize the time with any time server or to the time of a specific time zone. Changes are made to the value of the system clock, or with the time servers. In the latter case, all time servers are checked for synchronization. A time zone can be selected, in which case, Bexclock will try to synchronize to the time servers in this time zone. If no server is found in the time zone, the computer will attempt to select a different time zone and synchronize to the time servers of this new time zone. Also, Bexclock will keep checking the time servers for changes with a 2 minute interval. Installation: Use a drive letter as root. Bexclock can be installed on a multi-boot drive, or a data partition. General Setup: - Select 'Set Date and Time' from the tool bar - The program will update the system clock according to a particular time server. - The time zone will be set based on the country / region from the server. Time Zone: - Select a time zone from the drop down box. The time zone you choose will set the time that Bexclock synchronizes to
