The USSR had a rich weapons arsenal in the war with Germany and Japan. This section of the USSR's military might included T-34 tanks, P-39s, KV tanks, Grach M tanks, heavy tanks like the T-34-85, the T-26, and the SU-85, light tanks like the T-28 and T-37, specialized equipment, and a well-trained infantry. The Germans had in total about 6,000 tanks, they included Tiger tanks, Marder III light tanks, Panzers and Panthers. The Japanese had the Japanese Type-45, and another light tank, the Nambu. The Allied powers also had tanks like the Churchill, Mark V, Matilda, Panzer III, and Panzer IV tanks. All of these tanks, the British, the American, and the German and Japanese were all outclassed in terms of protection and mobility, they became easy targets for the USSR's T-34-85, the KV-1S, the KV-1 with a 90mm gun, the SU-85, the SU-100 and other Soviet tanks, these tanks could get close to the enemy, and blasted them with cannon fire and ATGMs. The small and light tank could get past the enemy's infantry and block the open field with mines, causing the enemy to get stuck behind a mine field, when they try to move, they would get the T-34-85 and other Soviet tanks opened fire at them. You have a gun, you are not alone, you must assemble your team and fight with you. Good luck and bring

What's new in Botlike - A Robot's Rampage - S.I.R. 9000 Skin:

The S.I.R. 9000, simply named the 'S.I.R.', has a large metal leg, designed to resemble a deadly but misshapen corpse, and a bladed hand with long nails. The Body The S.I.R. 9000's body is almost identical to that of a human body, except for the fact it has more components, a relatively sharper head, and a horribly mutilated left leg and an arm, which has four long sharp metal nails protruding from it. The top of it resembles a modified skull, with spikes and what could be a crown in its roof. The top of its head is rather large, as the two eyes in the skull are rather large and burned through and the skin around them is scorch marks. The S.I.R.'s upper jaw seems to be connected through its nostril to its soul/brain. The eyes are unblinking, but show some movements, especially in its right eye, the goal apparently is to freak out the adversary. It can stare at someone for about fifteen seconds, but the S.I.R. loves keeping his enemies blind, giving them a sense of powerlessness, by doing this he draws attention to his insane killing ability. Combat Abilities The S.I.R. uses its large head to slam into its targets. Those who see it long enough to look at it upside-down know that whatever made it looks like a corpse, it's attacking when it's standing straight on its legs. Other weapons include a cybernetic arm which has several blades on it. As in Shadow Warrior 3, most of the weapons mimic the damage patterns of high caliber firearms, such as the SMG. By comparison, the current S.I.R. 9000 uses much more powerful weaponry and is far more extreme in its attacks, such as the Shredder, Lethal Lobber and the Frankenstein. As stated in the note on Reuse, parts of the S.I.R. 9000 are now found in the Uroboros, thanks to Paradox. Abilities The following is a list of abilities and weapons found in Shadow Warrior 3. Head Shot When armed with his head-mounted cannon, the S.I.R. 9000 can wield his head as a base of firing. The accuracy is nil and it is typical that the S.I.R. will simply shoot his foes in
