1. Field of the Invention The invention relates to a vehicle power storage device such as a battery which has a plurality of power storage sections connected in parallel with each other and a plurality of groups of connecting lines for connecting the power storage sections with each other.

2. Description of the Related Art For example, in order to lower a resistance of an electric wire of a vehicle, an electric wire of a battery which has a plurality of parallel-connected power storage sections is known (see, for example, JP-A-2009-19040 and JP-A-2009-223223). The technique disclosed in JP-A-2009-19040 is a technique of a parallel connection of a plurality of batteries for a short distance high output power distribution between a high power battery and a low power battery and thereby increasing an output power. The technique disclosed in JP-A-2009-223223 is a technique of connecting a plurality of batteries with a simple wire configuration without a complicated connector. When power is supplied from the battery to a load, the resistance of the electric wire of the battery has the influences and attenuates the power supply to the load. When a plurality of batteries are connected in parallel with each other, in order to suppress the attenuation of the power supply, it is necessary to reduce a resistance between the batteries and it is also necessary

What's New in the Receipt Printer?

Currently, the program supports only German language, but it has no other limitations. You may use it wherever you like and according to the needs you have. The PDF files you can print from the program are created from the receipt files you can receive through your web server by applying the modification to the receipt files. Receipt Printer Features Key Features of the Receipt Printer The interfaces and tools of the application are easy to use, and I made sure to cover all your needs. It supports the receipt files sent from your web server in any of the available languages, and you can easily use it. The installation process is simple, and it is compatible with all Web and database servers running MySQL and InnoDB database engines. It supports the automatic insertion of the signature line in the printed receipts. One of the key features of the program is support for the automatic printing of membership dues to the local bank account. As a bonus, the program has a postal address printing module, which allows you to send the printed receipts by email to the recipients. Support for the receipt files received via web server: The receipts can be sent via web server directly to the program through an API, and this module is activated by default. If you need to, you can disable it, and send the receipts to the program through web form. It would be convenient and will save you much time and paper. The program has been tested and configured to work with the following web servers: Features of the Receipt Printer Printing support for the receipt files received through web server Printing support for the postage addresses received through web server The ability to save the receipt files to file locations. It is convenient to use because you can access them with any file manager if you need to print them outside the program. Program installation with the package manager The ability to print the receipt through any printer connected to your computer or network. It is a good bonus. The program is very simple and does not have a lot of options, but they are good to have. To create an invoice is very simple with the program. You can use up to three columns for the signature, and two lines for the invoice numbers. To create the receipts automatically is a good decision, because it saves a lot of time and prints the drafts immediately. You will be surprised how convenient it is
