Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a method of operating a hot-wire anemometer and a hot-wire anemometer for carrying out the method. 2. Background of the Invention A hot-wire anemometer is a device which is widely used to measure the wind velocity, wind direction and wind speed. A typical hot-wire anemometer uses a wire heated to a temperature slightly above the melting point of the metal wire. The flow of hot air past the heated wire produces a disturbance in the air flow which causes a deflection of the heated wire. The wire temperature is adjusted to be a few degrees above the ideal. The deflection of the wire is measured and converted to
