In all history, perhaps only ancient Egypt and Greece are important civilizations that stand out in the history of humanity, because the rest are all only in the dim shadow of history. These two great civilizations spread to all parts of the world. They are two famous civilizations that are the most famous in the ancient world. The ancient Greek civilization and ancient Egyptian civilization are the most important civilizations in the ancient world. Ancient Greek and Egyptian civilizations are the strongest civilizations in history. During these two civilizations, many important events occurred. Ancient Egyptian and Greek civilization have more than 2000 years of history. They will be quite useful to help many people understand history. But all these, we can talk in the next article. Until now, we have only talked about the physical aspects of the ancient Egyptian and Greek civilizations. But in the past, most people who like travel, religion, and history would not have much money. That's why many ancient archaeological remains have not yet been excavated, and many discoveries remain in the hands of people. Now, in some countries, the excavation has been restored, and ancient Egypt and Greece are better understood. In ancient Greek and Egyptian civilizations, the most important historical remains include: the magnificent Parthenon in Athens, the Colossus of Rhodes, the Pyramids of Giza, the bust of Queen Nefertiti, the Great Wall of China, etc. Although there are many other places of interest in the two ancient civilizations, many of them have not been excavated. These ruins can be seen by a variety of people, but the ruins are very few. In the past, more than 2000 years of the age of the Great Pyramid in Egypt, some evidence of the location of the current pyramid, the huge temple that reflects the beauty and majesty of the Great Pyramid was found, but this is very rare. In the culture of ancient civilizations, many ancient achievements have not been excavated, the excavation of the remains of ancient Greek and Egyptian civilization is a global historical task. If the excavations are all to excavate the past, it will help the spread of the general understanding of history. The ability to understand the past will be extended, and the ability of people to excavate the future will also be increased. What's more, excavating the excavating history, ancient Greek and Egyptian civilizations can also provide better tourist services for the public. Sight and Sound in the Ancient World First of all, at the beginning of the game, please download the "Welcome to Ancient Egypt" and "Welcome to the Greek World

What's new:

They say you are what you eat. We believe in you. Just like you are to your body, you are to your soul. A healthy body builds a healthy soul, and vice versa, a healthy soul attracts a healthy body. It is very much like this that our foods are taken into our souls in order to bring quality and vitality to the body. The same spirit goes for the minds of people, what is known to the Western culture as 'Ego'. This is not the same as the true ego. Our ego is our pure or mortal soul, our self-awareness and our identity as conscious beings. It is our self-identity that connects us to the higher mind of God, who is the source of our connection to the spiritual world of creation. It is the power of this higher mind that is available at the level of a soul. The Ego is the lower level of self-identity. In fact this is the reason why people can achieve so many things but fail to develop spiritually. The Ego is very attached to the everyday routines, habits and repetitive actions of life that bring it temporary satisfaction. This is the meat we eat in this physical world, what our culture calls, 'ordinary life'. When we eat these foods that provide us with the necessary fuel for our Ego, we are unfortunately catapulted into the lower vibration of the physical world without knowing it. But when we fully connect to the higher Ego, we will then be catapulted into a natural connection to the higher life of the spiritual realm and the higher state of being; for the spiritual world and ourselves is just like the higher level of reality; it is higher in energy, with a deeper and constant awareness of being to being. It is a realm we are all capable of entering on a temporary basis. Anyone who wants to enter this realm must first separate themselves from the lower body, the ego. Spiritual development is a long, drawn out process, once you disconnect from your ego, and let go of whatever habit you are currently attached to, it will eventually rise up into the higher level of spirit. Some of you may say that you are more creative, or have great ideas, or exceptional memories. This is a sure sign that you are disconnected from the lower Ego level. You have disconnected yourself from you. Taking in 'ordinary' foods, and living from that form of consciousness you have in your mind become a permanent state of
