Theoretical studies on the electronic structure of nickel carbide: making sense of the open 3d shell. Using a spin-unrestricted variational valence bond approach we have calculated the ionic and covalent bond lengths, the electronic properties, and the crystal structures for Ni<sub>2</sub>C, Ni<sub>4</sub>C<sub>2</sub>, and Ni<sub>12</sub>C<sub>4</sub> structures, compared to the experimentally proposed phases of Ni<sub>3</sub>C and Ni<sub>2</sub>C<sub>2</sub>.

The present work demonstrates that Ni<sub>2</sub>C is more stable than Ni<sub>3</sub>C and that there are two distinct high-density phases of Ni, the denser one being Ni<sub>12</sub>C<sub>4</sub> in contrast to the earlier reported Ni<sub>11</sub>C<sub>3</sub>. The observed size and stability of the Ni<sub>12</sub>C<sub>4</sub> (3) cluster are also reproduced. Q: is there a way to get the sum of an array based on an array number column I have an array with a column number for each number in the array. These are column numbers like 1,2,3,4,5,6,7,8,9,10,11..... I also have an array like the following one MyArray = ["1", "7", "12", "9"], ["5", "6"], ["4", "8"]....] I am trying to get the sum of the column number based on the array number. So for the array above, I want to get MySum = ["13", "10", "6"] Any idea? Thanks! A: You can make an array with your number of unique arrays by iterating through the outer array and then flatten it using the rest parameter in a reduce: MyArray = [['1', '7', '12', '9'], ['5', '6'], ['4', '8']]; MySum = MyArray.reduce(function(acc, cur) { var col = cur.join(""); acc.push(col); return acc; }, []); Result
