I am fairly new to Python programming and I hope someone could help me out here. I am currently working on a code project which consists of a large number of images (around 1,500) of flowers and trees. I want to be able to take submissions of the plants with a different time delay. I know how to do it using an integer for the time delay like this: import time import Image image = Image.open("file.jpg") time_delay = int(raw_input()) new_image = image.resize((300, 300), Image.ANTIALIAS) for i in range(time_delay): new_image.putdata(0, i, image.getpixel((0,0))) new_image.save("new_image.jpg") This works, but to make it fair, I need the submission time delay to be randomised. I have a way of finding the average time the first time I run the program, but how can I implement something like it into an infinite loop? A: generate random number of seconds and store it in a list randomize time delays import random import time time_delays = [] for i in range(len(time_delays)): time_delays.append(random.randint(0, 10)) filling up time_delays will allow you to randomize the filling up of the time intervals. Q: How to separate data in DataGridView? I want to separate data in DataGridView using SQL Query DataGridView1.AllowUserToAddRows = false; var query = "SELECT * FROM student where a=@s"; SqlDataAdapter adp = new SqlDataAdapter(query, conn); DataSet ds = new DataSet(); adp.Fill(ds); DataGridView1.DataSource = d 6d1f23a050
